The collection and use of our users' personal data is normally only carried out with the user's consent. One exception is where it is not possible to obtain consent beforehand for practical reasons and it is permitted by law to process the data.

2. Legal basis for the processing of personal data

When we obtain consent for processing operations for personal data from the data subject, Article 6 (1) (a) of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) forms the legal basis for the processing of personal data.

In the case of the processing of personal data which is necessary for the performance of a contract to which the data subject is party, Article 6 (1) (b) GDPR forms the legal basis. This also applies for processing operations that are necessary to take steps prior to entering into a contract.

When processing personal data is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which our company is subject, Article 6 (1) (c) GDPR forms the legal basis.

In the event that processing is necessary in order to protect the vital interests of the data subject or of another natural person, Article 6 (1) (d) GDPR forms the legal basis.

If processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests of our company or a third party and such interests are not overridden by the interests or fundamental rights and freedoms of the data subject, Article 6 (1) (f) GDPR forms the legal basis for the processing.

3. Data erasure and storage period

The data subject's personal data will be erased or made unavailable as soon as the purpose of storage ceases to apply. Storage can also be carried out if this is provided for by the European or national legislator in Union regulations, laws or other rules to which the controller is subject. The following data is collected in this way:

Information on the browser type and version used

The user's operating system

The user's Internet service provider

The user's IP address

The date and time of access

Websites from which the user's system reaches our website

Websites which are visited by the user's system via our website

The legal basis for the temporary storage of the data and log files is Article 6 (1) (f) GDPR.

3. Purpose of data processing

It is necessary for the system to store the IP address temporarily to enable the website to be sent to the user's computer. For this purpose, the user's IP address must be stored for the duration of the session.

Storage in log files is carried out to ensure the functionality of the website. We also use the data to optimize the website and to ensure the security of our IT systems. An analysis of the data for marketing purposes is not carried out in this context.

IV. Use of cookies

V. Application and use of tracker (with anonymization function)

The controller responsible for processing has integrated tracker (with anonymization function) into this website. tracker is a web analytics service. Web analytics is the collection, compilation and analysis of data about the behavior of visitors to websites. Among other things, a web analytics service collects data on which website people arrive at a website from (known as referrers), which sub-pages of the website were accessed, or how often and for how long a sub-page was accessed. Web analytics is predominantly used to optimize a website and to perform a cost/benefit analysis of Internet advertising.

IIG Bank (Malta) Ltd

tracker is used to analyze the flow of visitors to our website. Among other things, tracker then uses the data and information obtained to evaluate the use of our website, to compile online reports for us which show activity on our web pages and to provide other services related to the use of our website.

tracker stores a cookie on the data subject's IT system. What cookies are having already been explained above. Storing cookies enables tracker to analyze use of our website. Tracker Analytics prompts the web browser on the data subject's IT system to transmit data to tracker for the purpose of online analytics on every visit to one of the pages of this website which is operated by the controller responsible for processing and into which tracker has been integrated. During this technical process, tracker obtains knowledge of personal data such as the data subject's IP address which is used to determine the origin of visitors and clicks and subsequently enable commission settlements to be made, among other things.

As previously mentioned above, the data subject can disable the storage of cookies by our website at any time using the appropriate setting in the web browser used and therefore permanently object to the storage of cookies. Such an adjustment of the web browser used would also prevent tracker from storing a cookie on the data subject's IT system. In addition, a cookie already stored by tracker can be deleted at any time via the web browser or other software programs.

If you have asserted the right to rectification, erasure or restriction of processing vis-à-vis the controller, the controller is obliged to inform all recipients to whom the personal data concerning you was disclosed of this rectification or erasure of the data or restriction of processing, unless this proves impossible or would involve a disproportionate effort. You have the right vis-à-vis the controller to information on these recipients.

6. Right to data portability

You have the right to receive personal data concerning you which you have provided to the controller in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format.
